Vigil, film, discussions to mark anniversary of 9-11

By ALISON ALOISIO

An observance of the first anniversary of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks is planned to begin at 7 p.m. that evening on the Bethel Common.

Two related events are scheduled, the first a candlelight vigil on the Common. Details are still being worked out, but Mary McPheters, who is helping coordinate the effort, said she hopes to have musicians present. There will be music in some form, she said. McPheters is also planning to enlist a speaker.

Anyone interested in helping organize the observance may call McPheters at 824-5104.

Immediately following the vigil, "In Memoriam," a video depicting many scenes from the New York City September 11 tragedy narrated by former Mayor Rudy Giuliani will be shown at Bingham Auditorium.

After its showing, there will be panel of area history teachers and historians, who will provide their comments and observations followed by any remarks from those attending. It is free and open to everyone interested, providing an opportunity to reflect on the meaning of an event that shook the nation one year ago.

All schools in SAD44 are also planning to observe the anniversary with a moment of silence, Supt. Dave Murphy said.

A larger focus, however, will be weeklong events planned as part of Maine Character and Citizenship Week, which is being promoted by the Maine Department of Education. Murphy said school discussions and activities will center around the nature of democracy and "how lucky we are to be Americans."

Elsewhere locally, a tribute is planned as part of the opening of the Oxford County Fair in Oxford, beginning at 10 a.m. And at the Norway Post Office, an 8:30 a.m. "Sing Out for Peace" observance will include a moment of silence, bell-ringing, music and speakers.

Bethel voters may take up Main St. parking, ASC hangar purchase

By ALISON ALOISIO

A hearing on whether to turn greenspace on lower Main Street in Bethel into parking space has been scheduled for Sept. 16, following discussion by selectmen Tuesday.

The same night, the board will also meet with the Budget Committee to discuss the possible purchase of the American Skiing Co. airport hangar.

Parking

Prior to Tuesday's meeting, selectmen heard from businesspeople who want more parking space, at the cost of the greenspace along one side of Main Street.

"Typically, parking on lower Main Street is full from Café Di-Cocoa to the railroad tracks on Friday and Saturday nights, as well as during vacation weeks," wrote Bill and Nancy White, owners of the Sudbury Inn. "There were five restaurants within a two-block radius last year, and this year it appears there will be eight — a 60 percent increase."

"It is our understanding that a restaurant on a street with parking is exempt from providing parking for the first 12 seats. With two new restaurants almost adjacent to The Sudbury (and one down the street), there is now potential demand for 36 new spaces in an area that is already full, and for which no additional parking has been provided."

The letter was accompanied by a petition signed by another dozen businesspeople from the lower Main Street area.

The Whites also pled their case in person at the meeting. But Melody

Soccer

The Telstar High School varsity soccer team finds itself in a very different place early in the season than it did last year — strong on offense and needing to build somewhat on defense.

Early last season, goal-scoring ability was a question. Not so this time around.

The Rebels lost only three players, all defensemen, to graduation. But they have several players capable of scoring 10 goals each this year, according to coach Nate Buckman.

"We'll be looking for games with scores of 6-4 or 5-3 this season," said Buckman. He expects much of the offensive power to come from senior co-captains Wade Osgood (forward) and Kinsey Durgin (midfielder), as well as freshman stand-out Dan Kiesel, who will be a starting striker with Osgood. Kiesel, said Buckman, "has very impressive ball-handling skills."

The squad has a large number of juniors and sophomores, boding well for the next couple of years, said Buckman.

The remainder of the roster includes: seniors Matt Hamel (midfielder) and Jeremy Benson (goalkeeper); juniors Alex Best (fullback), Peter Poor (fullback), Chris Estes (fullback), Mark Hodgkin (fullback), Kurt Wight (midfielder), Mike Hoy (midfielder), Jake Largess (fullback), Adam Largess (forward), and Casey Fleet (midfielder); sophomores August Reiss (midfielder), Glen Carver (midfielder), Terry Collins (fullback), Kevin Zinchuk (fullback), Alex Helms (midfielder), and Ross Parker (midfielder); and freshmen Blake Conrad (midfielder) and Josh Tibbetts (goalkeeper).

Buckman said the defense has plenty of playing experience, but needs to develop leadership in directing players into position. "We

Overset Pond successfully reclaimed for trout

Organic poison from South America clears the way for return of indigenous trout to local ponds

The trout in Overset Pond, Crocker Pond, and Broken Bridge Pond are thriving once again.

Just a few years ago, catching a native trout in these local ponds was a rare event. There weren't many left, due to competition from exotic species such as pumpkin seed sunfish and golden shiners.

Trout are the native fish in these Maine ponds. But the introduction of invasive fish, through illegal stocking and live-bait fishing, had depleted the population.

The return of trout, and the classic Maine angling experience, required drastic action. Each of the ponds was reclaimed. Rotenone, a naturally occurring pesticide, was added to the water to kill all the fish living in the ponds. Then, the ponds were restocked.

Overset Pond in Greenwood was reclaimed in 1998. Crocker Pond and Broken Bridge Pond, in the White Mountain National Forest, were reclaimed in 2000.

Francis Brautigam, a fisheries biologist for Inland Fisheries and Wildlife (IFW), said, "The reclamations we've done to date have been quite successful."

Northern Maine ponds still have native fish populations, Brautigam said. But the ponds in southern

Invasive species

Invasive plant species such as milfoil and purple loosestrife have received a lot of recent publicity as threats to Maine's water bodies. But invasive fish have been a problem for a long time, as well.

George Smith, of the Maine Sportsman's Alliance, said his group encourages IFW to be more aggressive in defending native fish species.

"The state has an Aquatic Invasive Species Action Plan," Smith said. "The plan is fairly good dealing with plants, and very poor in dealing with fish."

According to Smith, most of the illegal stocking occurs when ice

Local wood company's jam spreader gets scooped

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

Ross and Carole Timberlake, owners of Timberlake and Co., of Bethel, recently found that competition in the wood-products industry doesn't just come from countries where workers are paid $55 a week. There is also a threat of local competition, from other manufacturers in Maine who are also struggling to survive.

One of their designs, a wooden jam spreader, is being copied by another Maine manufacturer. And the design is being copied at the request of the Timberlakes' primary customer, Stonewall Kitchen of York.

Developing a new product Before moving back to Bethel, Carole worked for the Stonewall Kitchen, whose line of gourmet foods is phenomenally successful.

Stonewall packages their distinctive jellies in square jars, which fit into cupboards and refrigerators better than round jars. The square jars, Carole found, presented customers with a problem.

"Customers complained that they couldn't get the jelly out of the corners," she said.

In a quest to help people get every last drop of jelly, Ross and Carole designed a jelly stick, and named it the Perfect Spreader.

The first spreaders were made from scrap, the trimmings cut from the curved top slat of Timberlake's Shaker chairs.

Stonewall Kitchen recognized the potential of the spreaders, and began placing orders for them. The demand for spreaders soon outstripped the demand for chairs, and the Timberlakes had Bethel Furniture Stock bend maple for manufacturing stock.

The Timberlakes made thousands of Perfect Spreaders, first for Stonewall, and then for other gourmet food shops. Stonewall referred many of those customers to the Timberlakes.

The spreaders were featured in photographs in the Stonewall's Web site and catalog. Their advertising still describes them as "designed by a Stonewall Kitchen employee," and as "perfect for reaching into the corners of any unique jar."

As the increase in orders grew, the Timberlakes asked another manufacturer, Bill Keoskie of Kingfield Wood Products, to help fill orders. Keoskie was the first to

LEARN ABOUT THE PROCESS

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, Sept. 10, at the Woodstock Elementary School there will be an open house, with members of the Comprehensive Planning Committee at the site ready to answer any questions or discuss any subject regarding the plan. The get-together will start at 5:30 p.m. and run until 8 p.m., with food and soft drinks for all at no charge.

The members of the committee, in addition to answering questions, want to make clear the function of the Comprehensive Plan and what it is supposed to accomplish.

To state very clearly what the committee can do regarding making new regulations for the community or starting new programs that can adversely affect the tax rate is very easy. The answer is "nothing."

You may ask, "What the heck are they doing?"

The answer is equally easy but needs a few words of explanation as follows:

1. The committee is making an inventory of the several physical parts of the community such as its roads, recreational facilities, dwellings, and geographical features such as aquifers, forests, lakes, etc.

2. As the inventory is made, the members are looking at policies that will summarize the philosophy of the town regarding each of the parts of the inventory.

3. From the policies developed as the inventory is made, suggestions or recommendations will be made to maintain the present nature of the community, to enhance or improve other items and perhaps make specific recommendations to improve the governance of the town.

As an example, one of the committees is working on "Recreation." The inventory would include the baseball diamonds, the town beach, the school and other facilities and activities.

One policy that could be developed as a result of the inventory would recognize the need for small playgrounds in various parts of the community.

A recommendation to the town might be to develop two or three small playgrounds at various sites in the town using town land under a volunteer committee.

The committee has no authority or the desire to go further than this.

The voters of the town can accept the plan only as a guide for any future action by the selectmen. It will be up to them to take any further action regarding the recommendations contained in the plan.

To repeat — on Tuesday, Sept. 10, at the Woodstock Elementary School there will be an open house with members of the Comprehensive Planning Committee at the site ready to answer any questions or discuss any subject regarding the plan. The get-together will start at 5:30 p.m. and run until 8 p.m., with food and soft drinks for all at no charge.

Please attend.

COMP PLAN'S DINNER PLAN

To the Editor:

About the supper on Sept. 10 at the Woodstock Elementary School, sponsored by the Comprehensive Planning Committee, here is the plan. The Woodstock Recreation Booster Club, the PTAs of Forestdale School and Woodstock have been asked to supply the beans and coleslaw. Ham, veggie dogs, etc. are courtesy of the committee. Although the dinner is free, there will be an opportunity for those who wish to make a donation. All donations will be divided among the three worthy organizations.

The committee is asking others who wish to help to donate apple pie(s). Extra pies will be sold, with the proceeds going to the library. This is a wonderful chance to meet people and to support your town.

DESECRATION

To the Editor:

If you care about the town of West Paris and its future, please come to the Town Office Thursday night, Sept. 5, at 6 p.m. There is to be a special hearing held in regard to the "Special Amusement" permit for the proposed "Mighty Stallion Bar and Tavern," to be located at Trap Corner where the restaurant used to be.

This place could constitute a terrible traffic hazard in this busy intersection, as well as produce loud noise and attract undesirable people to our beautiful town. This is also situated on an historical site and would be a desecration and a poor advertisement for our town.

GUBERNATORIAL FORUM

To the Editor:

Who are we going to elect to serve as our new governor this coming November? How do the candidates stand on the important issues facing the state of Maine? The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is organizing a Gubernatorial Breakfast Forum on Wednesday, Sept. 18, to be held at the Grand Summit Hotel from 7:30 to 9 a.m., and we want anyone who is interested in hearing from the candidates to feel free to attend. The cost of the breakfast is $5 per person. RSVPs and payment need to be to the chamber office at, 824-2282, by Monday, Sept. 16. Walk-ins the morning of the event cannot be accommodated.

Dana Connors, president of the Maine State Chamber of Commerce, is going to be the moderator, and the chamber has drafted 8 to 10 questions/issues that we will ask the candidates to comment on in two-minute increments. In the final 10 to 15 minutes, we will choose a few questions that attendees can submit at the registration table that morning. Additionally, we will compile all the questions that are not covered that morning, and give them to the candidates' campaign headquarters to be answered at a later date.

The issue of who will help to lead Maine into the next four years is an important one. We hope all who are concerned will plan to attend this important event.

KAMERON HOWARD BENEFIT

To the Editor:

A couple of weeks ago a 1 1/2-year-old Kameron Howard of West Paris was diagnosed and treated for a cancerous tumor on his brain stem and now requires six weeks of radiation treatment, five days a week. His therapy is costly and not completely covered by insurance. Friends and family are collecting contributions to help pay for treatment, and the expense incurred traveling daily to the Children's Cancer Center in Scarborough.

On Sept. 14, a public supper and auction will be held to benefit Kameron, and we would appreciate any donations for the auction and/or supper that anyone is willing to give. For further information, you may contact me at 665-2058, Kevin Farnum at 674-3856, or Mark Farnum at 665-2591.

Kameron and his family thank everyone for their help with his fight against cancer.

MAHOOSUC KIDS ADVENTURE

To the Editor:

Our thanks go out to all those involved in this summer's Mahoosuc Kids Adventure program.

From my perspective as a resort manager, employer and parent, this summer's programming and organization could not have been better. It was a pleasure to work with all the different entities involved, including Sunday River, BIG Adventure, Bethel Outdoor Adventure, SAD44, MKA, and of course the parents, volunteers and counselors.

The program's success, in large part, is due to the perseverance of organizers Carol White, Julie Hart and the MKA board of directors. Combining two privately owned and operated summer camps and a school-based childcare offering into a program that was convenient for working parents and enriching for our local children was impressive to say the least.

We should not be surprised if ours is the model other communities attempt to emulate.

Keep up the good work.

fishermen use live bait. The state's fishing laws prohibit using a number of species as live bait, including the species that had come to predominate in our area ponds.

Once the invasive fish take over, there are few alternatives, Smith said. "It is difficult to deal with fish, this is one of the only effective ways."

Rotenone

The ponds were reclaimed by killing the fish with rotenone. For many people, Brautigam said, this seems like an environmental disaster. But it is the most benign tool available for managing fisheries, particularly small ponds.

Rotenone is a botanical compound which occurs in plants of the legume family native to South America.

"It was traditionally used by the locals," Brautigam said. "They ground up the root and applied it to rivers. Then, they'd harvest the fish downstream to eat."

Today, rotenone is one of the few pesticides permitted for use by organic gardeners.

Rotenone has been extensively tested. It is harmful to mammals if inhaled or ingested in large quantities. The diluted formulations used in gardening are considered harmless, though labels warn against using rotenone near water, because of its danger to gill breathers. In the diluted quantities used to reclaim ponds, it isn't harmful to waterfowl.

But rotenone is quite toxic to fish and to other gill-breathing creatures, including insect larvae and pollywogs. According to a fact-sheet published by the National Coalition Against the Misuse of Pesticides, it is a slow-acting nerve poison that acts by inhibiting respiratory metabolism in cells.

Selecting a pond for reclamation
Selecting a pond for reclamation is an involved process, Brautigam said. "We usually choose ponds without camps, because it's controversial."

The pond's outlets are also a consideration. IFW looks for ponds with natural barriers downstream that can keep invasive species from getting back into the pond. "Sometimes, you need to reclaim down to an impassable falls," Brautigam said. "Some ponds require construction of a fish barrier."

Other considerations include where the pond's outlets drain. IFW will not reclaim a likely candidate if an outlet is near a drinking-water supply.

"Usually, there are no big problems downstream," Brautigam said. "There can be some effect, but it is fairly local. And the streams get recolonized fairly quickly."

'The state has an Aquatic Invasive Species Action Plan.

The plan is fairly good dealing with plants, and very poor in dealing with fish.'

GEORGE SMITH
Maine Sportsmens' Alliance

Reviewing the job

In the days after applying the rotenone, Brautigam said, IFW employees return to the pond to watch what has happened.

"The next day, the water will be cloudy. We go back and remove bodies near the surface. You'd be surprised at how few there are; most of the time they sink."

The rotenone is applied in the fall. Because it breaks down quickly with heat and light, the shortened days and cooler water temperatures increase its effectiveness, assuring all the invasive species have been wiped out.

And the cool water keeps the dead fish from floating, Brautigam said, helping to control odor and minimize the cleanup.

In the spring following the reclamation, the ponds are restocked. Crocker Pond and Broken Bridge Pond were restocked with Brook trout only.

What to do with old paint thinner and other hazardous stuff

Do you have old, rusty cans of used paint thinner, or mystery chemicals in containers whose labels peeled off long ago?

Would you like to dispose of these dangerous chemicals safely and in a way that will not hurt the environment? You may be in luck.

Several cities and towns in Maine hold an annual Household Hazardous Waste collection day just for people like you. These events help homeowners get rid of old, unknown and dangerous chemicals that may have been sitting for years on a back shelf in a closet, basement, garage, or some other forlorn and forgotten place.

Many of the towns in Maine that are holding a Household Hazardous Waste collection day this year are listed on Maine DEP's Web page at MaineDEP.com. If you are fortunate enough to live in a town that is holding a collection day, call the Town Office to make an appointment, find out what materials can be dropped off that day, and how to properly pack and transport your items. Collecting this stuff is tricky and many towns need to know what you will be bringing (and how much of it) so they can be prepared and have enough of the proper containers.

Okay, you have cleaned off the basement shelves. You have carefully packed your cans of chemicals and have taken them to the collection center at the appointed time, just as directed. You watched as the people in the white coveralls with booties (Remember bunny-suit pajamas?) took the cans and placed them in different barrels (depending on what dangerous chemical was in them). Now you are returning to a safer, healthier home. How are you going to keep this from happening again?

To save yourself this same ordeal next year, think before you buy. Ask yourself, "Do I really need this? Is there something else I can use that is less dangerous, less harmful to the environment and to myself?" The Department of Environmental Protection has several brochures to help you out in this area. Start out with the Safe Home Program brochure and the fact sheet on household hazardous waste for a list of safe and environmentally friendly alternatives to many potent household cleaners. (Call 1-800-452-1942 or visit the web page MaineDEP.com).

Another way to reduce hazardous waste in your home is to measure before you buy. If you do need to use an oil-based paint as opposed to a water-based paint, or if you decide you really do need paint thinner, buy only what you need. Try to minimize the amount of material that you will have left over at the end of the job.

Remember, when it comes to a household hazardous waste collection day, we want to see you there this year only. Next year, you can forego the hassle because you're living in a safer, healthier home.

"In our back yard" is a column of the Maine Department of Environmental Protection. E-mail your environmental questions to: info@dep.state.me.us or send them to: "In our backyard," Maine DEP, 17 State House Station, Augusta, ME 04333.

County not interested

BETHEL—Citing concerns about added liability and responsibility, the Oxford County Commissioners have unanimously rejected a proposal to provide 24/7 law enforcement services to the town. Under such an arrangement, the County Sheriff's Office would have in effect replaced the Bethel Police Department. The town's proposal followed an Aug. 5 vote by the Board of Selectmen to explore the practicality and economics of such an arrangement. In a Aug. 22 letter to Town Manager Scott Cole, County Sheriff Skip Herrick noted: The commissioners have taken a definitive position on this issue. The Sheriff's Office is expected to continue its current relationship with the town, under which deputies provide backup to the BPD when needed and available, according to Bethel Police Chief Darren Tripp.

Assessors to keep minutes

BETHEL—For the first time, the Bethel Board of Assessors reviewed and approved minutes of the previous meeting Wednesday morning. Approval of the minutes was the only item on the agenda. A memo from Town Clerk Christen Mason, said, "In the past, the board has not received typed minutes back from me for their approval although most meeting files contain my handwritten notes or typewritten minutes. Formal minutes will now be presented at the following monthly meeting for your approval. I will also tape record the meetings." Mason also verified the town's current certified ratio for the assessors. The ratio for July 1, 2001 to June 30, 2001 was 89 percent. Based on the ratio, the town will receive 97.9 percent of homestead, veterans' exemptions, and tree growth reimbursements. For the previous fiscal year, the town's ratio was 85 percent, and the town was reimbursed 93.9 percent. Mason told the board she would try to be prepared for them to set the mill rate at the Oct. 2 meeting. Tax bills, which are due Oct. 1, will be sent out as soon as the rate is set. Taxpayers who have not paid their bills by Nov. 15 will also be charged interest.

Countywide emergency team planned

WEST PARIS—Members of search and rescue teams, fire departments and ambulance services will meet Tuesday, Sept. 10, at 6:30 p.m. at Tri-Town Rescue in West Paris to organize a countywide search, rescue, and recovery response team. The group will study the possibilities of a team to respond with the Maine Warden Service in looking for lost persons. The goal is a coordinated response with various department specialties available. Individual teams will continue to be responsible for their own equipment. Anyone interested may contact Jim Worobe at 743-9457 for more information.

Firefighters return

MANCHESTER, N.H.—The New England National Forest #6, a 20-person crew of firefighters from the White Mountain, Green Mountain and Finger Lakes national forests, returned from the Biscuit fire in southwestern Oregon Monday. The fire has been burning since July. Jay Milot was the White Mountain Crew Boss.

Hearing changed

WEST PARIS—The date of a hearing for a special amusement permit for the Mighty Stallion Tavern and Bar has been changed to tonight (Thursday) at 6 p.m. at the Town Office. The bar is planned for the site of the former Trap Corner Store.

Route 16 bypass opens

CONWAY, N.H.—One of New Hampshire's most popular tourist areas, troubled for years by traffic gridlock in summer, is getting some relief. A new road officially opened Friday and is aimed at taking some of the traffic off busy Route 16 through North Conway. The 2.8-mile stretch running north from Route 302 is parallel to Route 16, which typically is clogged with vehicles on a summer weekend. The road, which cost $10 million, is part of a state project that includes widening of a portion of Route 16 in North Conway and a bypass around the villages. The road has limited access, meaning there will be no businesses along it.

Deal will protect northern lands

PORTLAND—The Nature Conservancy agreed last week to purchase $50 million of a paper company's debt in exchange for the protection of 241,000 acres of forest in northern Maine. The agreement between the conservation group and Great Northern Paper Inc. guarantees public access and sustainable forestry and prevents development in the woodlands around Mount Katahdin. The area contains the highest concentration of remote ponds in the state, and thousands of acres of pristine, unroaded wilderness, according to Kent Wommack, executive director of the Conservancy. GNP will also place a conservation easement on 200,000 acres of working forest, most of which is west and north of its Millinocket mill. The Nature Conservancy will retire $14 million of loans to GNP and refinance another $36 million at competitive rates. The paper company has struggled financially recently because of the sluggish economy and debt incurred in a recent modernization project.

Mainers may serve second year

BANGOR—Several dozen Mainers are among 14,000 National Guard members and reservists who have been notified they may be needed for a second year of active duty military service for the war on terrorism. Nationwide, the largest group facing an extended term are some 5,700 Air National Guard security troops who protect bases. In Maine, 63 members of the 101st Security Forces Squadron will be asked to serve on active duty status for a second year. The troops generally spend several weeks overseas before returning to run security at the air base in Bangor. The extensions come even as the military is demobilizing thousands of others, including another 168 members from the 101st Air Refueling Wing in Bangor, who were called up after the Sept. 11 attacks. Most of the security troops are deputies or police officers, so their absences have hurt some small departments in northern Maine.

WIC receives literacy funds

RUMFORD—The Women, Infants, and Children (WIC) Nutrition Program of Western Maine Community Action has recently been awarded a special innovative projects grant for $8,000 for an early literacy project entitled Get WIC Get smart. Funds were made available through the Maine WIC Program. Books dealing with topics of foods, health, safety, child development, gardening, breastfeeding, and nutrition will be distributed to children receiving WIC benefits in Oxford, Franklin, and Androscoggin counties.

Teacher finalist for excellence award

SACO—Marsha Sheehan, a Thornton Academy math teacher and the daughter of Cindy Moxcey of Hanover, is one of 11 finalists statewide for the 2002 Presidential Awards for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching. The finalists receive a grant of $750 to improve math and science education in their schools. Four teachers from each state will be named national award winners and receive $7,500 grants. Sheehan, a Bowdoin College graduate who has taught at Thornton for 13 years, last summer completed a master's degree in math at the University of New Hampshire.

Grief program seeks volunteers

LEWISTON—The Program for Grieving Children & Teens will offer a 25-hour training course for people interested in becoming a volunteer. The training teaches volunteers to work as part of a support group facilitation team in addressing the needs of the children and teens. For more information call (800) 482-7412. Prospective volunteers should not have suffered a loss within the past year.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Wednesday, Aug. 28

At 4:18 a.m. police assisted rescue at a Route 2 residence in which a subject was having a possible heart attack. The officer administered oxygen until rescue arrived.

Thursday, Aug. 29

Police found a vehicle on the Westwoods Road heavily damaged after a collision with a utility pole. A subject had been taken to the hospital at 3 a.m. with a severe head laceration consistent with the evidence at the scene.

Friday, Aug. 30

At 4:50 p.m. police received an anonymous complaint about nightly parties with music and yelling/screaming at an apartment.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

GREENSPACE TO PARKING SPACE?
A dozen businesspeople on Lower Main Street in Bethel are requesting the greenspace on one side of the street be converted to parking spaces. They cite the growing number of restaurants in the area. A public hearing on the question is scheduled for Sept. 16.

Bonnema, owner of Bonnema Pottery across the street from The Sudbury, wasn't so sure the parking idea was a good one. She said that although parking is needed, "the loss is great" if it comes at the expense of the greenspace.

Parking spaces for that area were also considered in the early 1990s, during reconstruction of infrastructure there. But it was decided instead to plant a grass berm between the curb and the sidewalk.

Several people at Tuesday's meeting expressed concern about the difficulty of seeing over snowbanks on the berms in the winter. But others said cars parked in that space would also create visibility problems.

Selectmen voted to send the question to a public hearing, which has been scheduled for Sept. 16 at 7 p.m. at the Town Office.

They also decided to form an ad hoc committee to study the longer-term question of parking in the village area.

Airport hangar

The board also voted unanimously to authorize Town Manager Scott Cole to go forward with the process to purchase the ASC hangar at a cost of $100,000 — contingent on approval by voters at a special Town Meeting.

The hangar was built on land leased from the town.

The move was prompted by an offer from Dr. John Mason to purchase the hangar at that price. The existing lease agreement between Bethel and ASC provides the town a right of first refusal.

Cole said the Airport Authority, after considerable deliberation, concluded "the town's long-term interests are best served through outright municipal ownership."

Selectman Don Bennett noted that the area's economy is changing, as lumber mills shut down and more tourists come to the area. He said this past weekend he saw more kayaks and canoes on the Androscoggin River "than I've ever seen," and there are many bicyclists in the area as well.

"People are coming here for tourism, and we have to look to modes for transportation," he said. "That airport, to me, is part of it."

Arlan Jodrey, a member of the Airport Authority, also favored purchasing the hangar. "If we have a chance to buy it out, let's buy it out," he said. "Then we'll have control of our airport. The price is right."

With a 30-day time constraint on making a decision, the selectmen authorized Cole to put the process in motion, as well as confer with town attorney Geoff Hole regarding the town's obligations in the matter.

The board decided to meet with the Budget Committee Sept. 16 to discuss the purchase, and then set specific Town Meeting dates as needed for both the hangar and parking issues.

Spreaders

let the Timberlakes know that there was trouble on the horizon.

Looking for cheaper copies

"Stonewall asked me to make them at the New England Products Show (NEPS, held last spring in Portland)," Keoskie said. "I told them I couldn't do that, I was already making them for Ross."

The Timberlakes were also at NEPS. They said they saw a Stonewall representative there, who asked if they could produce the spreaders at a substantially reduced price for wholesale. The Timberlakes said they couldn't do it for the price suggested, but they had begun looking at ways of lowering the cost.

When the Timberlakes began manufacturing for Stonewall, they filled out a merchandise data sheet, a standard form provided by Stonewall. Ross wrote, "Patent pending. Timberlake and Company will provide as sole manufacturer with Stonewall Kitchen as principal sales agent. Negotiable terms based on projections."

But the data sheet wasn't a contract, and wasn't legally binding.

"We tried to resolve the problem," Ross said, "but our phone calls went unanswered."

Shortly after NEPS, Stonewall placed an order with Down East Woodcrafters. According to Ted Keiler, director of marketing at Down East, he was also approached about making the spreaders at NEPS.

Soon, the Timberlakes received a copy of their spreader in the mail, anonymously mailed from York, and branded with the Stonewall logo.

Slight change in design

The Timberlake Perfect Spreader is smooth; it feels like satin. All the edges are rounded and the finish is silky to the touch.

The copy is the same shape, but has a beveled scoop, like a spoon, in the end. And it isn't finished as well, the edges are sharper, the finish rougher. Ridges of wood grain mar the handle. The Timberlake spreader is handcrafted. The copy is machine stamped.

Jonathan King, president of Stonewall Kitchens, called the copy a new design.

"Our national sales manager was approached at the New England Products Show by a woodworking company, asking to make them," he said.

King also indicated that the new spreaders were ordered to fill a need Stonewall feared the Timberlakes couldn't meet.

"We were trying to increase volume and decrease cost," King said. "The Timberlakes weren't able to produce in the quantity we needed at a cost for competitive pricing."

King said Stonewall tried to negotiate with the Timberlakes, and offered to continue having them make spreaders for Stonewall's retail stores.

The Timberlakes deny this.

Ironically, the spreader — which they offer for sale at their shop, The Mayville House, and over the Internet — now has to compete against the copies Stonewall will flood the market with.

"Now, we're working for our own and we're competing with our own product," Ross said.

Legal protection

The Timberlakes contacted a patent and trademark attorney, Tom Bohan, of the law firm Bohan, Mather and Associates, of Portland and Bangor.

Bohan said the Timberlakes may have a case of Trade Dress, an infringement on the shape of the spreader.

"Trade dress is protection for the way something looks, like the shape of a Coca Cola bottle," Bohan said. "It is established by selling a product with a recognizable design."

Bohan sent Stonewall Kitchen a letter of cease and desist, telling them to stop selling the copies.

Stonewall contends that there are many similar spreaders on the market. According to King, there is no infringement, and Stonewall will continue to sell their new design.

Bohan said the Timberlakes could have better protected themselves in two ways. They could have filed for a design patent, and they could have used a trademark.

(For more information on patents, trademarks, etc., see Bohan's Web site, www.bohanlaw.com. It explains the details of intellectual property laws, including patents, trademarks, copyrights, and trade secrets.)

Ross and Carole Timberlake are not yet sure what they will do.

"We have four options," Ross said. "We can litigate, compete with ourselves, have someone else make it at a lower price, or stop making it altogether."

"Right now, I feel like someone's taken $25,000 out of my pocket. I'm not happy about that."

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Pam and Tim Gaboury and sons, Seth and Spencer, and two friends, Kathy and Jason of North Attleboro, Mass., visited three times with Hi and Mary Lou Berry during their week's stay at Songo Pond.

Terry Wilson is a patient at Maine Medical Center, 22 Bramhall Street, Portland, ME 04102.

Roger and Lillian Conant hosted a neighborhood party on Saturday, Aug. 31, to wish their neighbors, Dick and Cindy Haines and Lefty and Mary Keniston the very best in their upcoming moves. Dick and Cindy will be moving to Peru and Lefty and Mary are building a new home on Vernon Street. Jug and Nicole Merrill have also moved from the neighborhood to homes in town. Attending were Bob and Polly Davis, Kay McMillin, Libby Bane, Ben Conant, Ruthie Bean, Dick and Cindy Haines, Mary and Lefty Keniston, Jake, Lorena and Lance Tyler, Aaron Conant and Triste Coulombe, Pat Feeney, Keith Davis and the host and hostess.

Bob and Ginny Keniston have returned from a week's vacation fly-fishing for brook trout at Igloo Lake in Labrador.

Dot Bean and Ruth Silver are both recovering nicely from surgery they had recently at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

The Methodist Women will be meeting on Thursday with Ginny Walker in Gilead for a potluck luncheon. Meet at the church at 12:30 p.m. for transportation.

Nancy Brown of Norfolk, Va., visited her mother, Musa Brown, for a week recently.

Amy Davis' five children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren met over the holiday weekend at their camp at Songo Pond.

The Keniston Clan of five children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren also met over the weekend and were joined by the Davis family at camp at Songo Pond.

Becky Wagner of Edmunds spent the holiday weekend with her parents, Bob and Polly Davis.

John and Eileen Winslow attended her nephew's wedding in Oneida, N.Y. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Fraser of Farmington, Sue and Elizabeth Merrill.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Fraser and family attended a family wedding in Salem, N.H., over the weekend.

At the weekly meeting of Oxford Hills Duplicate Bridge on Aug. 30 at Town & Country Mobile Home Village in Norway, there were 6 1/2 tables. The north-south winners were: first place, Pat Pasterlak and Sam Long; second, Sue Ellis and Don Johnson; third, Joann Morris and Rolande Poulin. East-west winners were: first, Bob and Sue Crane; second, Sally York and Nicholas Karamessinis; third, Mac and Lorraine Taylor.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester
Welcome back to Hanover — Gordon and Joan Howe have officially returned to Hanover as residents. For many years Gordon and Joan ran Howe's General Store (now Gordie Howe's Store) while Gordon served as the Hanover postmaster. Having moved here from White River Junction, Vt., the Howes are living in a Main Street apartment.

Labor Day has slipped by and a busy summer season will soon be a memory. Perhaps it was the hot and humid weather, but some folks have pointed out that several folks have been ill natured and a number of not typical occurrences took place. One lady left Howard Pond saying that she was tired of hearing about contention.

School opened for most students the last week of August. Students from Hanover go to school in Rumford, Mexico or Bethel. A few students are lucky enough to be home schooled.

An auto accident happened at 2 p.m. Saturday morning, Aug. 24, along the Howard Pond Road, when a car hit a utility pole, bounced off a tree stub and then smashed into the kitchen of the Macalluso cottage. The driver was the only occupant of the car, and he was transported by ambulance to Rumford Hospital and later transferred to Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston. He since has been released and is recuperating at home. Besides Med-Care Ambulance, the Oxford County Sheriff's Department and Rumford Fire Department were at the accident. The car was demolished and was removed by Dan's of Rumford.

Donna Worcester says, "Who did it?" She found a bag full of corn on her steps and no one knows from where it came. It was delicious and the gift was appreciated.

Clem Worcester was at Maine Medical Center in Portland last Tuesday for an evaluation.

Matt Tirrell has been released from a Lewiston hospital and has returned to work.

Work continues on the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library moving project. Vickie Fimiani reports receiving some support to help with fundraisers. Estimates are being solicited for moving the library building from Howard Pond Road to Ferry Road. An attorney's judgment, obtained by Ann Morton, indicates the project could be possible. It is hoped that if the building can be moved it will serve as a library, historical site, and museum.

Sunday River Valley

by Rockie Graham
September has bloomed and the weather is milder. Labor Day Weekend, though it promised to be rainy, was filled with beautiful mild days with gentle wind just strong enough to keep the flies away. The campground was chucked a block full until Monday morning when all those people headed south to school and work, leaving the place quiet and peaceful. We even managed to have an end-of-season staff barbecue Monday evening.

What started as one lone and lonely turkey in the Valley has grown by leaps and bounds. One can now see a veritable flock. There are pairs of turkeys and young turkeys. They can be seen all over the Valley, running in their odd walk-run and, when the moment suits them, flying overhead. They are kind of ugly looking in a charming sort of way. In any case, it is quite a change from a year ago.

Although I haven't heard or read confirmation of it, it appeared that Mollycodd's curse might have resurfaced last week. We heard that there was a fire at The River Restaurant in West Paris. That restaurant is in Snow Falls, which Mollycodd has been said to have cursed in perpetuity. To date, no business has been able to succeed there. I will try and find out what happened by next week.

On the road through Grafton Notch the other day, I spied some bright red maple leaves. It is an omen of the soon-to-be-coming winter. Actually, we did have a frost in the Valley this weekend. I didn't lose anything, but the pumpkin and squash leaves are brown and the basil plants are at the end of the line.

This evening, David's daughter, Becky, read my Tarot Cards. It appears I will have some changes in my life and maybe some love. There may be great gains in wealth and we may create an invention that leads to prosperity. Look for it in the future.

At long last, David has become a grampa, again. Rachel had her baby last Friday, the 30th of August. Marie Elizabeth entered the world at 6:09 p.m. weighing in at 8 pounds, 2 ounces. She came into the world surrounded by family and love. Congratulations, Rachel and Josh.

It is getting late and my typing is going from bad to worse, so I will say goodbye to this week. Have a good week and start looking for the foliage.

East Bethel

by Nancy Mercer
Alder River Grange will have a meeting on Sept. 13 with a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper and the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Dean and Ganina Gross and children, Ross and Katelyn, of Hanover attended the Harrington/Remington Reunion at Arlene Harrington's on Aug. 17.

The Trappers' Weekend at Neil Olson's on Aug. 23-25 was the biggest ever for its 25th year. Nancy Silkonis of Fall River, Mass., won the fishing tournament. The farthest was from California and there were people from Canada. All enjoyed the cloggers and Brandon "Elvis" Moore.

Tammy Hincley started back to work on Sept. 3 at Bethel Furniture Stock.

On Aug. 27, Richard and Pat Kimball went down to Boothbay Harbor for lunch. Everything was packed, so they moved back to Bailey Island and had a good lunch at a lobster shack.

Richard and Pat Kimball had an enjoyable Labor Day Weekend cookout on Aug. 31 at Keith and Penny Savage's on South Pond.

On Sept. 1, Richard and Pat Kimball enjoyed flying model planes at the airport in Bethel.

Marilyn Mollicone of Augusta visited Nina Mollicone from Aug.

31 to Sept. 2.

Peter Haines and Lee Swan of Newry visited Conrad and Carolyn Grant of Winterport on Aug. 23.

The supper schedule for Alder River Grange is: Sept. 14, chicken potpie; Oct. 19, harvest supper; and Nov. 9, turkey with all the trimmings. To honor the veterans, they get a free supper.

We could use some rain all over. Everyone should be very careful with fire or anything that could spark a fire. The woods are terribly dry.

Have a good week. God Bless America.

Andover

by Joan Stinson Carney
My condolences to the family of Betsey Poor Fisher. She was a great lady and will be missed by all who had the privilege of knowing her. I worked at the Poor Farm the summer between my last year of high school and my first year of college. Needless to say I was very much in awe of this lady from "away" and she went out of her way to be kind to me; she also taught me how to make baked carrots, a recipe that I still use today.

After my return to Andover, I got to know her better, lost some of my awe, and will really miss her, especially on the library's Board of Trustees.

This weekend I finally had the chance to meet my newest relative. Ethan Collins is a perfect little seven-month-old boy; he has four teeth, a huge smile, and even let me hold him — but don't tell his grandfather, Marshall Meisner that I said that. You can tell his mother, Megan, and his grandmother, Vickie, and his great-grandmother, Lorena, but don't tell Marshall. Ethan gets all of his charm from the Simmons side of the family of course.

Young Peter Poor and his family want to thank all the people who were so kind to them during their crisis when Peter got burned. You will be happy to know that Peter is fine now, back at school and playing soccer.

Thinking of starting a farm? We have received some information at the Town Office about Farms for the Future, a new program of the Maine Department of Agriculture, Food and Rural Resources and Costal Enterprises, Inc. Just come into the office during regular business hours and get a pamphlet.

I really hate to bring this up, but it's better to be safe than sorry. There have been quite a few "Breaking and Entering" incidents in town recently, things have been stolen, property trashed. It's horrible to think that things of this nature can happen here in Andover, but you might want to make sure things are locked up properly, and if you have to go away, arrange for someone to look after your property.

Wayne Morton is home recuperating from surgery, and Dolly Jones will be having surgery this week. Cards would be nice.

Some of the people celebrating birthdays next week are: Tracy Richard, Cameron Chase, Cindy McElmurry, Alan Chastanet, Robin Palmer Mosher, and Norma Palmer on the 7th; Barbara Crockett on the 8th, which is also Grandparent's Day; Lisa Mary Gammon on the 9th; Sabrina Spaulding, Nicholas Walker, and Michael Morton on the 10th; Jason Hilton on the 11th; and Paul Hutchins, Carma Burns and Tamara Ann Walker on the 12th. Happy Birthday everyone. Anniversaries: Rick and Jennifer Merrill and Brian and Sue Mills on the 7th; Jere and Carole Melzar on the 8th; Troy and Wanda Plantier, Duayne and Linda Jodrey, Kim and Mike Cole on the 9th; Mike and Peggy Mills and James and Ann Sims on the 10th; Janet and Keith Farrington on the 11th.

The word for the week is "harri-dan." Look it up. See ya.

Summer isn't over yet, but it might as well be. Most of Labor Day weekend was warm and pleasant, but Monday we got a glimpse of what was on the way, with dark and gloomy, drizzly weather.

The Ladies Aid Craft Fair was a great success. It was a mini "Old Home Day." There was lots of laughter and those little articles that you couldn't possibly live without sold well. Lucille Largesse and Debbie Judkins displayed and sold some very nice quilts.

The winners of the raffles will be published next week after all the lucky ones are notified. It was remarkable how many of the ladies

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

All in all it's been a pretty interesting summer I'd say. The baseball season has been okay even with the averted strike and the usual crash and burn of the Red Sox. The first half of the gardening season was great with the right combination of sun, rain and warmth. I had spectacular lupines, lilies, daisies and asters. Then the heat and lack of rain changed things. Now, I have spectacular ragweed and crab grass, I guess they don't mind it dry.

I think the tourist season has been pretty good for the local economy. Not as big as some years in the past, but not bad either.

As it says in the Bible, "For everything there is a season," and we have entered yet another one which promises to be every bit as interesting as the summer season. We have entered the "political season." With two months to go until the election the politicians are out there jockeying for position, striving to be heard and seen. Posing at every opportunity for what we in the newspaper business call a "shake and grin."

They're knocking on doors to tell you about how great they will be if you vote for them and they emphasize how bad their opponent will be if you don't. They're taking a stance on all the issues, which may change a little here and there depending on who they're talking to. They are showing up at any kind of gathering and they're kissing babies. They call it politicking; I call it applying for a job.

Can you imagine what it would be like if the average citizen had to apply for a job this way? Most of us, when looking for a new job, check the help wanted ads in the paper, go to the places of interest and fill out an employment application. We might take a resume with us and if we're lucky we might get an interview on the spot. That's it; it's the most we can do and we either get the job or we don't.

Thank God we don't have to do it the politicians way. I personally would not be crazy about driving around in a pick-up truck with an enormous sign in the back painted in garish colors and gigantic letters asking people to hire me.

Everywhere you go you drive this truck with the monster sign in the back. You're right out there in the streets and the next thing you know along comes another pick-up truck with a monster garish sign asking people to hire them for the same job you want.

It's like a garden of cardboard on the roadsides, a few weeks prior to the election.

You are face to face with the competition! When you or I apply for a job it is very unlikely that we will know who else has applied for it too. Not so with the political method of job applications. If we had to do it their way we would find ourselves embroiled in debate with the other applicants.

A secretarial applicant might boast, "If hired for this job I promise that I will get all filing done in a timely manner. My worthy opponent, Ms. Doe, has a long history of misfiling and we all know what kind of problems that can lead to."

Then Ms. Doe would counter, "Though it may be true that my opponent is very efficient with a filing cabinet, she has a reputation for excessive use of white-out and this is very wasteful. She has also been known to print a lot of her personal e-mails on company time and paper. If I'm hired, I promise clean correspondence and no personal email."

If debating isn't bad enough, the politicians have to go around as Election Day nears putting up all those annoying signs. It's like a garden of cardboard on the roadsides a few weeks prior to the election.

The politicians also have to convince people to donate money to them so they can have bumper stickers, pins and handouts made and to cover the cost of their advertising. If I could get people to give me that kind of money I wouldn't even have to apply for a job.

Then there are the advertisements. Naturally, they're not going to say anything bad about themselves; they're paying for the darn ad after all. They are certainly not going to run ads that say they might be a little weak on certain issues or that they receive campaign money from some questionable alliances.

I'm really glad that life in the private sector isn't like it is in the political arena. If we apply for a job and are hired based on our experience and references, that's the end of it. If we do a good job and the company stays in business, we don't have to job hunt again unless we want to.

The politicians, on the other hand, have to go through the whole process again once their term is up. What a miserable way to make a living!

And here's the bottom line folks; the politician's employment future is totally dependent on you and me.

The upcoming election is not only important for the politicians' occupational futures, it's also important for us to preserve American democracy. Now, more than ever, with the events of 9/11 almost a year behind us, we are not only preserving our democracy by casting our votes, we are also telling the world that no matter what happens, no one can compromise our belief in the freedom to cast those votes.

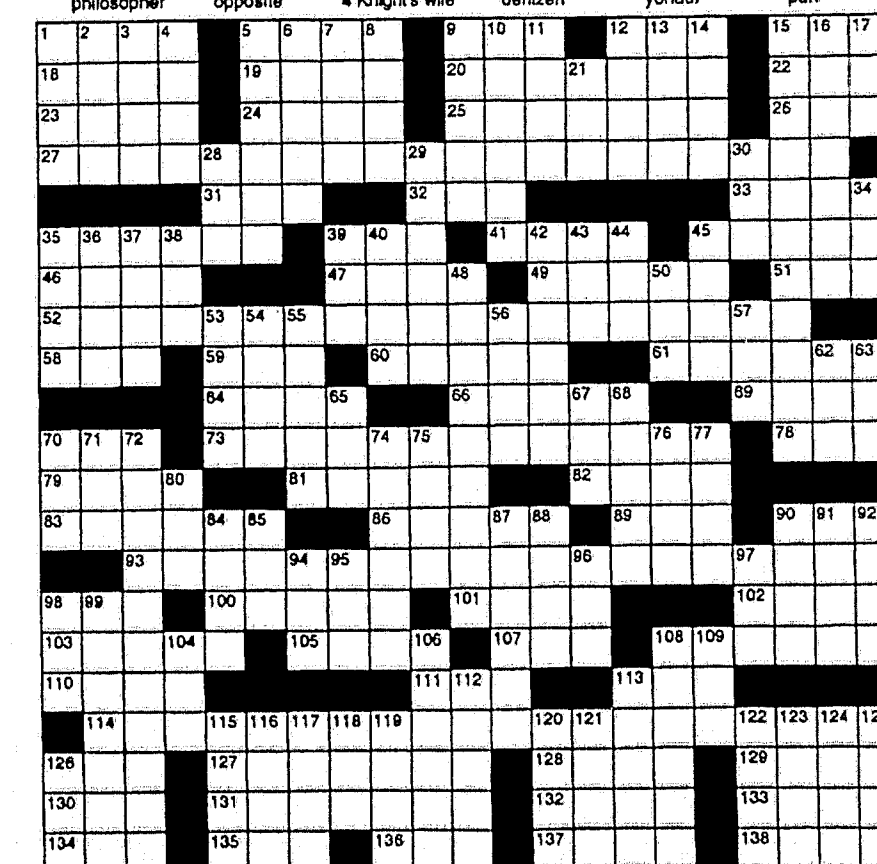

I will do my part by studying the issues and the politicians and at least be informed when I go to the polls in a couple of months.

And the way I see it, I will have the satisfaction that I not only exercised my rights as a citizen of the United States, I also will have done my part in putting at least a few politicians to work.

that attended were great-grandparents. Some didn't look old enough to be grandparents. That "Up Country Air" must be keeping them young. Simone Lavalley, Mary Davis, Ginny Williamson, Doris Fraser, Evelyn Kenney, Avery Angevine, Margaret Mitchell, Vi Bernier, and Marty Edwards all joined the "Great Grand" ranks. I'm sure there must have been others attending, also.

Tuesday, the Harrises, Millers and yours truly traveled to East Hereford, Canada for the buffet at Montanard Restaurant. After lunch we went a few miles up the road to Paquetteville where there is an old, seldom used church whose spire dominates the landscape. The people of the small town keep the church in spic and span order. The gardens and flowers are breathtaking. There is an old cemetery bordering the gardens and a large gazebo. The markers in the cemetery are black wrought iron crosses forged by the village blacksmith many years ago. If anyone desires to make the trip, bring your French/English dictionary as there are many small areas containing signs inscribed with poetry in French. This is a unique place. Use the Beecher Falls Border Crossing and proceed straight ahead. You can't miss it. The scenery along the way is super. The buffet is on Tuesdays at noon and costs $5 American.

The annual Labor Day Picnic was held at Evelyn and Jim Kenney's place at Birch Point on Sunday. The weather was perfect, the bugs were few and the covered-dish dinner was fattening and yummy. Following the picnic a flotilla of pontoon boats went up the lake for probably the last time this season. The group was passed by Sue and Dick Angevine speeding up to their favorite fishing spot. It was too cold to go "skinny dipping," so everyone kept their "parkas" on. We passed two eagles and a half dozen loons on the trip.

The "Bird of the Week" is the goldfinch — that little beauty that visits the thistle feeder each day.

We extend our sympathy to Sally Lavalley, whose father died recently.

Congratulations to the latest great-grandparents, Evelyn and Jim Kenney. Sierra Jade Austin was born to Jaime and Jonn Austin on Aug. 23. Jaime is Evelyn's granddaughter.

Welcome to fall. (Bah Humbug)

Michelle Josephson, in Cumberland, held a Birthday Party on the 24th for her husband, Paul, and daughter, Kylie, and also for Ras Bachelder and Heidi Littlefield. Also there to enjoy the party were: Nick; Ras' wife, Karlene, from Newry; Claire and George Romano from Wiscasset; Brent Bachelder and Peter from Rhode Island; Shannon and Tom O'Donnell from Farmington; Julie Littlefield Dyer and daughters, Natalie and Alexis; and Gil Seely from Newry. All were relatives except Peter and Gil, who are good friends. A good time was had by all.

Sylvia and Bill Wight went to the annual BBQ at Norman and Eleanor Davis' on Sunday, the 25th, and met with a large crowd (maybe a hundred?) of friendly folks there to enjoy the good food. It was great to meet old friends again and do some chatting.

My friend, the white rabbit showed up again Sunday evening at about 6 p.m. and stayed for a couple of hours.

The Newry Mothers Club will hold its first meeting on Sept. 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the Newry Town Office. We hope to see some new faces there. Please help us keep this club alive by joining a wonderful group of women today.

The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary met Monday evening to discuss the Western Maine Firemen's Association dinner that will be held on Sept. 9. Those present were Sally Melville, Veronica Penley, Mary Stone, Denise Swan, and Lorraine Larson. We were sorry to hear that we will be missing a member, Ruth Pilling, who has moved to the North Conway area. We decided our menu for the dinner will be ham, raisin sauce, mashed potatoes, squash, peas, rolls or biscuits, and gingerbread with whipped topping. The dinner this year will be at the town hall.

Veronica and Brian Penley's daughter, Karyn, (I apologize if I have misspelled her name again. I never seem to get it right.) has broken a small bone in her ankle. Those little ones seem to give about as much problems as the big ones. Anyhow, she found out that riding a bicycle up and down an incline is not as easy as it looks when you see it on TV.

Sally Melville will be going in for surgery to repair a bone that has not healed correctly after breaking it. It doesn't sound like much fun. We all wish her good luck.

Judith Grover Tent 17 Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met on Monday,

Aug. 26, at the Grange Hall for a regular meeting. Sally Sawyer gave a report on National Convention. Five members were present. It was reported that two real daughters of Civil War veterans were celebrating their birthdays, one is 101 and the other is 102 from Ohio and Oregon. Cards were sent from the Tent. Next meeting will be Sept. 9.

Services for the Baptist Church are Sunday, Sunday School and Adult Bible Fellowship at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., choir practice at 5 p.m., and evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening at 6:30 is Prayer Meeting with Bible Study and patch the Pirate Club. Friday is Family Fun Night from 6 to 8 p.m. Come play games, ping pong, volleyball, etc.

A surprise birthday party was given to Diane Gaudreau by her husband, Tom, and daughters, Celeste and Precious. Tom was master chef on the grill. Many family and friends were there to help Diane celebrate.

Annie Cushman is riding the bus to attend kindergarten. School started Aug. 27.

The Richard Felt Band was invited to play last week at the Bangor Folk Festival. Mr. Felt said he and all the band were very honored and pleased to be invited. They also were shown on PBS and interviewed.

Sarah, Patti and Gary Caret just returned from a vacation to Montana, Yellowstone Park and the Grand Canyon, driving and tenting all the way. Patti said the temperature was over 100 degrees sometimes.

The surveys for the town have been the topic of many a discussion. Mrs. Nelberie thinks one of the best ideas is one that involves the beach area. That is to plant trees or put up a wooden cover at the beach parking lot (she was told not many use it for parking), put some picnic tables under the new trees or cover, then families can sit and spend time at the tables and go across to swim at the beach. Most people have mentioned the beach, library grounds need improvements, plus a park for kids and more. Zoning was mentioned and maybe having some of the junk cars taken away by a charity foundation (with the owners' okay).

Another suggestion was to put park benches near the post office so people could sit and read the newspaper if they wanted to be outside. Please, everyone, fill out your survey and mail it in. If you lost your survey sheet, send a note in.

On Sunday, guests of the Ken Hoyts were James, Joseph and Maggie Hoyt; JoAnn, David and Shawn Crockett; Beth, Steve and Marybeth Hoover; Kay Hoover; Beatrice Farnum; and Alice and Ken. We celebrated Jim's birthday. Kay Hoover from New York is visiting her son and family, Steve, Beth and Marybeth Hoover.

Curator Larry Billings has given the Historical Society a large oil painting of the ocean. Joyce and Ellsworth Hathaway brought up to the society a desk from Mansfield Packard. The society encourages you to enjoy the beauty of Maine and New England. We are fortunate in this part of the country to have so many natural attractions around. All year there is much for people to enjoy. The next meeting is Sept. 14 at the society building.

Claribel Poland celebrated her 90th birthday on Aug. 24. She is a special person to all who know her. She is a young 90 years. During the day about 50 relatives and friends stopped by her home to wish her a happy day. She received many calls from Maine, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Arizona, New York and Florida. Her family had a nice selection of snacks for everyone to enjoy. In the afternoon that day a gentleman stopped by and proposed marriage to her. I haven't heard when the wedding will be or if she accepted.

Claribel was married to my brother, Buster, for most of her life. He died a few years ago. She has four children: Leon Poland, Beverly Dayton, Kenneth Poland and Donna Kusheba. She also has nine grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren. We wish her many more happy years.

Beverly Dayton and daughter, Danielle, from Georgia are coming to Maine for a wedding this weekend.

I haven't much news this week due to quite a few doctor's appointments that take up more time than I wish.

Another week gone by, but what weather we're having. Better enjoy it now; they say the winter is going to be a bad one.

Well, the school buses are going again; the summer has gone by fast.

Timothy Curtis has moved back here from New Jersey. Seems good to have him home again.

Betty Curtis has had a lot of company lately — children and grandchildren.

A correction from last week is that Teresa and Henry Grenier moved to Whitefield in Lincoln County where he has employment. He was known as "Bethel Two."

Albert and Marie Curtis and their whole family went camping at Nantua Point last weekend. They all had a good time.

Joshua Yates, William and Albert III, all from town, were callers on me. They are my great-grandchildren.

Colista Morgan and roommate were at the farm recently for a few hours.

That's it for this week. Have a happy and safe week ahead.

Mollycokett's curse goes on. A huge tractor-trailer truck is being blamed for a downed power line that caused The River Restaurant's second floor to catch fire. Hedy and Paul Cornish and their staff were right in the middle of their busy supper when the fire broke out. They rescued their cat from the upstairs after ushering all their customers outside to safety. They have owned and operated the restaurant for about five years, having done a lot of renovations. They lived upstairs over the restaurant. There is extensive smoke and fire damage upstairs and smoke and water damage downstairs. There was really good response from both West Paris and South Paris fire departments. Thanks, guys.

Centuries ago Princess Mollycokett stopped at the Snow Falls Inn during a terrible snowstorm and being of Indian origin was turned away. At that time she put an Indian curse on the inn and any other business to be built there — that something bad would happen to each one, and it has.

The Sept. 2 (Labor Day) meeting of Franklin Grange 124 was canceled because of the holiday, and the next meeting will be held on Monday, Sept. 16 at 7 p.m. It will be Agriculture Night.

The joint installation of West Paris Grange 298 and Franklin Grange 124 will be held on Thursday, Sept. 5 at 7:30 p.m., preceded by a 6:30 p.m. supper. West Paris Grange's next meeting after that will be Thursday, Sept. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

On Friday afternoon there was an auto accident at Trap Corner between a small gold car and a pickup truck, which sent a teenage girl and her aunt to Stephens Memorial Hospital. The driver of the pickup was not hurt.

Saturday morning, many of us traveled to Wal-Mart in Oxford for the book signing of Mary Alice Standard of Sumner, for her new novel, "A Window to the Past," the story of her growing-up years down South during the depression years. It is a terrific book and well worth getting and reading. Congratulations, Mary Alice. We are so very proud of you. Mary is our church organist and music director at the West Paris Baptist Church.

Sunday night after Vespers, we had a birthday party for our pastor, Bruce Tyner. Happy Birthday, Bruce.

On Monday afternoon, from 1 to 6 p.m., Franklin Grange 124 and the ladies of Stone-Smart American Legion put on a Red Cross Blood Drive at the Legion Hall on Gore Road, Locke Mills.

My youngest grandchild, William Benoit, ran into a pair of scissors eight weeks ago and so far is blind in that eye. He will be again operated on the 17th of September — the next to last procedure that might restore his eyesight. Thank you all for all your prayers.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Hi everybody. Not too much news this week. Diane Files Bowden of Hancock and her daughter, Robin, called on Albert and Eleanor Nelson one day last week.

Shirley Grant from Mechanic Falls spent last weekend with Frances Grant.

Sept. 5 is our next Stoneham Church public supper of baked beans, casseroles, pies, etc., and the annual Harvest Supper will be Thursday, Oct. 10 from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

Schools have started about everywhere, so drivers please be careful and have a watchful eye out for children in the roads and streets.

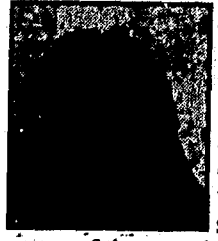

Dean Saunders has been busy working for Albert Nelson, Frances Grant and Bud Wilson.

Oh yes, if anyone out there has any big, yellow cukes they don't want or can't use, Frances Grant or I would like them to make sweet pickles. (Albert calls them frog tongues, but they are good.) I think they are really called Sunshine pickles.

Remember, if you would like to have something put into this column, please let me know.

Delilah, Eddie and Charity Millett are back in town after being out West for several months.

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke

Greetings from Albany Township. The dreariness of the weather seems to be the setter of the mood for this week.

Sheila sang at church this passed Sunday. She sang Diane Muise's "You Send a Rainbow" and the traditional hymn, "I Surrender All." We were a little surprised by the general pleasure that many in the congregation expressed over "You Send a Rainbow." It's more contemporary than the usual songs sung at church, and we think that because it is so contemporary more people are able to identify with it than with the more traditional songs sung. We think it's because it could be any of our lives, at one time or another that the song speaks to, in a "language" more like what we would use.

The Youth Group Choir will be singing at church next Sunday. And, the following Saturday (the 14th) they will be going to the Market Square Nursing Home in South Paris to sing a few songs to the residents. The kids should plan to be picked up by around 1 p.m. or so, to give us all plenty of time to get settled and ready to sing.

Bible Study will be held on Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Fernand and Holle Corriveau's home. We are still in the Book of Genesis but are making rapid progress to the end. Youth Group should be starting in a couple of weeks (no date set yet). Once we hear, we will let you know. We hope to have new members join this season.

This Sunday there will be a baptism at Mary Eichel's home at Songo Pond after church services.

And next Thursday will be the final Albany Congregational Church supper of the season. This will benefit the Youth Group, as will the yard/bake sale that will be held in the Hall next door. Please bring your appetite and good fellowship, and we'll make a place for you at the table.

Connie Jewell passed away early Monday morning. The Youth Group Choir had sung to her a couple of weeks ago, and we feel blessed and privileged for having been able to do so. We know that Connie has been well thought of in the Albany community, and will be greatly missed. Our condolences and heartfelt prayers go out to her husband, Howard. Funeral services will be held at the Lovell Cemetery #4 on Saturday at 2 p.m., with Pastor Lloyd Waterhouse officiating.

From the Bethel Rotary Club

This week, Oxford County Sheriff Lloyd (Skip) C. Herrick visited with us. He's been sheriff since 1991, born in Oxford County, and is a member of the OH Rotary.

The state of Maine has 16 sheriff departments and Oxford County has the lowest crime, which he likes to think is because of prevention and education.

In briefly addressing crime prevention, he believes that the key is education, and to that end, his office has supported such programs as neighborhood watch programs and helped create new programs such as SALT — Seniors and Law Together, where the sheriff's office reaches out to seniors in the community.

The history of the Sheriff Office in Maine goes all the way back to the English settlers of our New World in 1694. In the 18/19th century, sheriffs had a broad range of responsibilities, including jails and workhouses. The historical perspective goes back so far and the office was elected by popular vote as it is today. Sheriff Herrick likes the old tradition and would like to keep it that way.

Sheriff Herrick shared with us a piece of history. He brought the sheriff's badge from 1907, still in use today at high court functions.

Continuing series: Polio Eradication — Fulfilling Our Promise. Every Rotarian should be proud of the long list of honors and distinctions conferred upon Rotary International by virtue of PolioPlus. Here are a few: RI was the first private-sector organization to receive the American Medical Association's Outstanding Global Health Initiative Award in 2000. CDC honored Rotary with its Champion of Prevention Award in 1998. WHO recognized RI for the Child Immunization Initiative of 2000. The International Health Organization awarded Rotary its Leadership Award (1996). The World Health Assembly presented Rotary with its Health-for-All Gold Medal (1994). The American Association for World Health presented Rotary with the Immunization: An Opportunity for Every Child Award (1987).

The American Academy of Pediatrics bestowed upon Rotary its Outstanding Service Award (1988). UNICEF honored RI in 1988 as the first recipient of the Child Survival Award.

The governments of Namibia, Mexico, Brazil, Myanmar, Peru, the Philippines, and Turkey, among others, have also awarded Rotary deserved recognition in granting appropriate honors and decorations. The chairman of the International PolioPlus Committee, past RI Vice-President William Sergeant, received the significant Kellogg's Hannah Neil World of Children Award in 1988 for his superb leadership of the committee.

The Rotary Club of Bethel meets Tuesdays at 7:30 a.m. at The Bethel Inn and Country Club.

From the Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the 37th annual meeting will be held on Thursday, Sept.

5 at the Regional History Center, beginning with a 6:30 p.m. chicken barbecue (those attending please bring a salad or dessert), and at 7:30 p.m. there will be the annual meeting followed by a lecture on the life and work of Edward Sylvester Morse (1838-1925), a Gould Academy graduate who achieved international fame as a zoologist. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Morse came to Gould Academy in 1856 and was immediately encouraged by Dr. Nathaniel Tuckerman True, the venerable principal and academy founder, who quickly recognized Morse's brilliance. He was able to capture his student's interest in collecting specimens from the natural world. Dr. True also allowed Morse to assist visiting biologists and mineralogists in their studies.

On Sept. 28, 1856 while enrolled at Gould, Morse discovered a minute land snail. This discovery would launch him on a career as a natural scientist. In 1859, the Boston Society of Natural History would proclaim Morse's discovery of "Tymanis morsei." To be credited with the discovery of a new species and to have it named for himself was undoubtedly pleasing to this bright 20-year-old.

Society To Sponsor September 11 Observance

"In Memoriam," a video depicting many scenes from the New York City September 11 tragedy narrated by former Mayor Rudy Giuliani will be shown at Bingham Auditorium following the candlelight vigil on the Bethel Common which begins at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 11. After its showing, there will be a panel of area history teachers and historians, who will provide their comments and observations followed by any remarks from those attending. It is free and open to everyone interested, providing an opportunity to reflect on the meaning of an event that shook the nation one year ago.

From the Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats are hosting several events in the coming weeks to introduce candidates to voters in Western Maine. Chellie Pingree, candidate for U.S. Senate, will be the guest of honor at a reception on Thursday, Sept. 12, from 5 to 6:45 p.m. at the McLaughlin Gardens in South Paris. Also honored will be District 68 House of Representatives candidate Lynn Baker, and District 69 Representative Rosita Gagne who is running for reelection. For information about the reception, call Oxford County Democratic Chair Cathy Newell at 875-2116. Following the reception, Chellie Pingree will be the speaker at a forum on foreign affairs at the Norway Library starting at 7 p.m.

On Friday, Sept. 13, Mike Michaud, candidate for U.S. House of Representatives in the Second District, will be the guest of honor at a reception at the home of Charli and Cathy Newell on North Pond in Greenwood from 4 to 6 p.m. Also attending will be area candidates Bruce Bryant for Senate, Lynn Baker, John Patrick and Shirley Powell for House of Representatives. For information about the reception, call 875-2116.

On Sunday, Sept. 22, the Oxford County Democrats will sponsor a Family Fun Field Day at the Stonybrook Campground on Route 2 in Hanover. The event will run from noon to 4 p.m. and will feature bean hole beans with the fixings. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children and are available from Democratic candidates around the county or at the door. There will be campground activities including horseshoes, badminton, playground, as well as music and door prizes. The campground, run by District 65 candidate Shirley Powell and her husband, Bruce, has indoor space so the event will be held rain-or-shine. Chellie Pingree will be attending; as well as the slate of Democratic candidates from Oxford County.

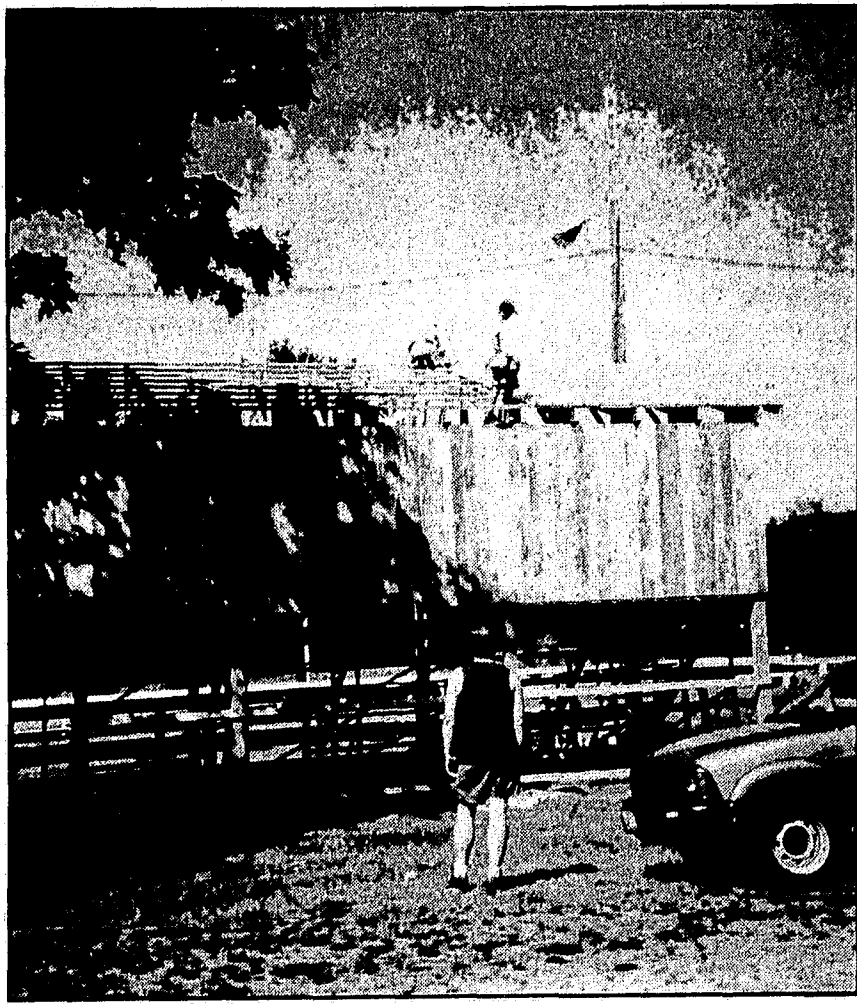

Volunteers are being scheduled for the Democratic booth at the Fryeburg Fair. Please call 875-2116 if you would like to help by staffing the booth for a shift.

AND THE ROOF GOES ON

Rupert Grover and Caleb Durgin of Bethel are shown installing a new metal roof on the grandstand at the outside arena at Oxford County Fairgrounds. Also helping out was Bill Dunn, who was working on the ground helping to get the roofing in place. The addition of this roof should make it much more pleasant to see and watch the events that take place during the fair. The money raised to fund this project was raised from the supper the fair committee put on over the winter. Also, the sides have been boarded in for more protection. The Oxford County Fair will be held Sept. 11 to 14 this year, so plan to come to the fair and check out the many improvements that have been made. Individuals have donated a total of 147 trees that have been planted all around the grounds, and new flowers and plants have been added at the gate on Coldwater Brook Road. One lucky winner will receive an all-expense-paid trip to Nashville with the purchase of a $10 ticket, and the lucky person does not need to be present to win this. Included in the trip are three nights stay at the Amerisuite Hotel, two tickets to the Grand Ole Opry, lunch on the General Jackson Show Boat, tour of the stars' homes and dinner at the Nashville Night Life Theater and $500 for travel to get to Nashville. Tickets may be purchased from any fair director or at the booth at the fair.

Harvest Supper and will be followed by dancing to the old-time music of The Parisians until 9:30 p.m. There will be door prizes and a 50/50 drawing. Cost is $6 for ages 12 and up, $3 for under age 12.

Is business ownership the right choice for you? That's a difficult question, one only you can answer. To start and manage a successful small business, you must be chief executive, purchasing agent, personnel officer, bookkeeper, advertising manager and sales director. Sometimes you even need to be the janitor as well.

To help you answer that question, a free workshop session is scheduled on Sept. 18 at the Norway Town Office community room from 7 to 9 p.m. This workshop is sponsored by Oxford Hills SCORE along with Western Maine Finance, Androscoggin Council of Governments, Community Concepts and the U.S. Small Business Administration. You will learn what you need to have and what you need to know to start or acquire a small business.

If this session convinces you that you want to move ahead with your plan to own your own business, you can sign up for one of SCORE's series of four workshops scheduled to begin on Oct. 9. For registration for the free workshop, call Oxford Hills SCORE at 743-0499.

From the Oxford County Republicans

Gubernatorial candidate Peter Cianchette, a former state Representative from South Portland, will be the featured speaker at the Sept. 10 monthly meeting of the Oxford County Republican Committee to be held at the Mexico Congregational (green) Church on Main Street (Route 2). There will be a 5:30 p.m. social hour followed by a turkey dinner ($6 per person). All interested Republicans are cordially invited to attend.

From the Lovell Historical Society

Would you like to know more about two of the important aspects of life in the area in past centuries? Come to the Lovell Historical Society's Heritage Center on Sept. 14 to enjoy a two-part multimedia presentation illustrating the traditional practices of harvesting timber and the creation of fiber and fabric.

The forestry exhibit will feature historical photographs, films, tools and artifacts. Knowledgeable resource people will be on hand to explain the art of working in the woods with hand tools and horsepower, and to outline the skills and processes of the river drives in this area that used to bring the logs to the mills.

The exhibit of local textile handwork will include early quilts, comforters, linens, crochet, lace, and stenciling, as well as an extensive collection of buttons. In addition, demonstrations of weaving and spinning will continue throughout the day, and craftspeople will be on hand to answer questions.

If you own old forestry or textile implements, examples of locally-produced work, or historical photos illustrating forestry or textile handwork, please contact the Historical Society or bring these items to the Heritage Center on September 14. Members of the society would be happy to discuss these with you.

The exhibit, which is free and open to the public, will run from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 14, at the Lovell Heritage Center at the corner of Routes 5 and 5A. Refreshments will be available. For more information, please call 925-2792.

From Tri-Town Rescue

Members of various search and rescue teams and fire departments and ambulance services will meet Tuesday, Sept. 10, at 6:30 p.m. at Tri-Town Rescue in West Paris to organize a countywide search, rescue, and recovery response team. This group will study the possibilities of a countywide response team to respond with the Maine Warden Service looking for lost persons.

The goal is a coordinated response with various department specialties available. Individual teams will continue to be responsible for their own equipment.

Any interested people may contact Jim Worobe at 743-9457 for more information.

From the Whitman Memorial Library

The Book Discussion Group of Whitman Memorial Library, Bryant Pond, will meet at 10 a.m. on Sept. 12. The speaker will be Pam Chodosh, a freelance writer from Albany. All are welcome to attend.

From N.H.C.T.C.

The Berlin Public Library and the New Hampshire Community Technical College-Berlin Fortier Library have received a grant from the New Hampshire Humanities Council to once again bring a series of interesting and thought-provoking book discussions to the North Country. This fall's series will feature three book discussions with the theme of "Not for Children Only."

The first of three book discussions will be at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 25, at the NHCTC-Berlin Fortier Library, 2020 Riverside Drive, Berlin, N.H. Ingrid Graff will lead the discussion of "Classic Fairy Tales" by Iona and Peter Opie. Graff is a Randolph, N.H., resident and a regular presenter who always manages to engage and entertain the group.

The second book discussion will be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 9, and Laurence Davies will lead the discussion of "Charlotte's Web" by E.B. White. Davies is professor of English at Dartmouth College.

Ingrid Graff will return for the third and final book discussion of the fall on Wednesday, Oct. 23 at 7 p.m. Graff will lead the discussion of "Bridge to Terabithia" by Katherine Paterson.

Refreshments will be served at all sessions. The books will be available at the Berlin Public Library and at the NHCTC-Berlin Fortier Library. For further information, contact Denise Jensen at the Berlin Public Library, (603) 752-5210, or Katie Doherty at the Fortier Library, (603) 752-1113.

Jon Allan Marshall exhibition

The Denmark Arts Center will display recent works by artist-in-residence Jon Allan Marshall thru Sept. 14. His work is heavily influenced by the 17th century Dutch masters. He works mainly with oil paints on panel, and the dramatic use of light and shadow is a distinguishing characteristic of his images. The painting exhibit is a collection of landscapes showing local scenes, seascapes and imaginary landscapes. Gallery hours are Friday and Saturdays from 4 to 7 p.m. Please call and make an appointment to view Marshall's paintings.

A reception is planned for Friday, Sept. 6 at 4:30 p.m. Twenty-five percent of any sales will be donated to The Denmark Arts Center. For more information, call 452-2412.

From the

Western Mountains Alliance

The Western Maine Sustainable Development Collaborative is part of a new statewide coalition of rural advocates working to create a rural policy agenda for Maine, an agenda that will promote rural Maine with clarity, harmony and force.

"Despite all the hard work in recent years to improve rural areas, much more needs to happen to advance the status of rural Maine," says Deb Burd, executive director of the Western Mountains Alliance. The Alliance is a member of the Collaborative along with Mountain Counties Heritage Inc., the Maine Center for Economic Policy, Coastal Enterprises, Inc. and the Sandy River Charitable Foundation.

"We need to move beyond the 'two Maine' paradigm to one that creates the will and incentive for the state's political leaders to think differently about the rural areas of Maine and consequently to create policy that will be beneficial to all people and regions of Maine," says Burd.

Burd recently attended a daylong meeting in Edgcomb with Bill and Nate Berry of the Farmington-based Sandy River Charitable Foundation, a major supporter of the Collaborative. The Western Maine Sustainable Development Collaborative, along with the statewide, Sustainable Development Working Group, convened the meeting that attracted some 40 representatives of state agencies, charitable institutions and policy advocates.

In addition to creating a "framework" document that will serve as a springboard for future discussions around the state leading to the creation of a rural policy agenda, the Collaborative is currently working to identify specific policy and legislative issues that will focus those discussions.

From the

Appalachian Mountain Club

The Appalachian Mountain Club will open Lonesome Lake Hut in Franconia Notch State Park for its first winter season beginning Dec. 15, 2002. The hut will be staffed with a caretaker to provide daily trail and weather information. The hut will be operated on a self-service basis. At AMC's self-service huts, guests provide their own food and have full use of the hut's stove, oven, and cookware to prepare their meals.

Lonesome Lake hut is one of three huts operated by the AMC on a year-round basis. Zealand Falls Hut and Carter Notch Hut are also operated year-round. The AMC operates Lonesome Lake Hut in partnership with the State Division of Parks and Lands.

At AMC's winter huts, bunkrooms are not heated, and guests must bring winter sleeping bags.

The Appalachian Mountain Club, with more than 93,000 members in the Northeast and beyond, promotes natural resource conservation while encouraging responsible recreation, based on philosophy that successful, long-term conservation depends upon firsthand enjoyment of the natural environment.

For more information on membership or lodging, or to make a reservation at an AMC hut, call (603) 466-2727, or visit the AMC at www.outdoors.org.

ROBERT SANBORN SITS WITH A CAT AND DOG

in front of a woodpile at the Sanborn farm at Middle Intervale in this ca. 1900 Guy Coffin photo. This photograph is among thousands that can be found at the Bethel Historical Society, which also possesses an outstanding collection of manuscripts, books, documents, and artifacts relating to western Maine and northern New Hampshire. The society is currently raising funds to establish its Regional History Center and to renovate the 1821 O'Neil Robinson House on Broad Street, which now houses exhibit galleries, offices, and the museum shop. Completion of this project will provide for improved storage space and greater access to collections as well as rooms devoted to educational activities, genealogical and historical research, and traditional crafts. Once the center is fully operational it will offer an expanded series of lectures, special events, conferences, courses, seminars, and publications. Fall sports need to be more vocal," he said. The defense is coming along in that regard, said Buckman.

As for the opposition, Buckman anticipates fairly balanced competition among the Mountain Valley Conference schools.

Buckman and assistant coach Tim Remington, both former offensive players themselves in high school, look forward to coaching what should be a high-scoring team.

Field hockey

Field hockey coach Gail Wight finds herself in just the opposite position from Buckman. After losing eight seniors — six of them starters — to graduation, she's fielding an inexperienced team. "They're young and talented, but lacking in high school experience," said Wight. "There are a lot of new faces."

Because of the many new faces, some players' positions have not been determined, she said.

The roster includes senior co-captains Lauren Hart (forward) and Heather Zimmerman (midfielder), as well as Michelle Deegan (midfielder) and Jessie Adams (midfielder); juniors Krystle Gould (defense), Santana Wilson (defense), Ashley Stambolis (full-back/sweeper), Justine Carver (defense), Alanna Borst (forward); sophomores Kara Jacques (defense), Megan Bailey (forward), Lacey Gammon (defense), and Stephanie Bennett (forward); Riley Gilbert (goalkeeper); and freshmen Kayla Mills (defense), Jillian Kimball (defense), Lindsay Hart (forward), Mallory Brown (forward), Stephanie Tripp (goalkeeper), and Heather Gionet (goalkeeper).

Wight said the younger players "are a good bunch of athletes. They'll be a group to watch. They're going to be something."

Despite the inexperience, Wight has been pleased with the team's performance so far in scrimmages. They did not allow a goal against Skowhegan, she said, and have played several other Class A and B teams to ties.

"The younger players are aggressive in the circle," she said. Wight anticipates a good balance between offense and defense as the squad develops.

Dirigo, Jay and Hall-Dale should be formidable opponents, she said. The playoff scheme returns this year to an earlier format in which about two-thirds of Class C teams make the post-season.

That suits Wight just fine. She disliked the more recent format in which all teams compete in play-offs. For top-seeded squads, that often meant a 10-day wait to play a game, putting the best teams at a disadvantage, Wight said. "It's tough to keep up the intensity and timing," she said.

Wight has a new assistant coach this year in Susan Hutchins, who played field hockey herself in college. Her experience will be an asset to the young team as well, Wight said.

Golf

The Telstar golf team begins its eighth season "full of promise," said coach Jim Lunney. Returning veterans and a talented freshman should, he said, help "pick up the caliber of golf," for the Rebels.

Returning seniors Brian Zinchuk and Jordi Walker, together with freshman Brady Chapman, will likely be the top three performers this season, Lunney said.

They are joined by seniors Ian Andrews and Dan Morgan; juniors Travis Brooks, Simon Dumont and Ben Shimamura; and sophomores Frank Emerson and Andrew Raymond (a first-time player); and freshman Errol Andrews.

Chapman, who is an experienced player despite his age, has won every match played with his teammates so far, Lunney said. "He's very steady and accurate" said Lunney.

That has the squad excited about their overall strength, he said. The returning players have showed improvement as well, he said, and Errol Andrews shows promise to be among the top competitors.

The team has also benefited greatly from the lessons they have received from Bethel Inn pros, Lunney said.

Last season, the Rebels missed qualifying for the state championship as a team by one stroke. Two Mountain Valley Conference teams qualify each year, and Lunney is hoping Telstar will have a better shot this season. In any case, he said, "I hope three or four (Telstar golfers) will qualify individually," he said.

Cross-country

The Rebel cross-country squad, though small, has its share of talent in returning veterans.

The boys' squad returns top runner Fred Bailey, as well as seniors John Reuter and David Barton and junior Dustin Angevine. They provide the team a good base, said coach John Applin.

Remaining runners are sophomores Andrew Farrington and Andy Aloisio, and newcomer freshman Ryan Cross.

The girls' three-runner squad includes one veteran, senior Sarah Gamble, a senior transfer student, Laura Bolstridge, and sophomore Jessica Morin, a trackster looking to make the adjustment to the longer distance.

Applin urges parents to encourage their students to take part in the sport, and runners may still sign up, he said.

Mountain Valley 7, Telstar 0; Sept. 3—Telstar was defeated by MVC defending champion Mountain Valley at the Bethel Inn. MV's Andy LeBreque was the medalist with a round of 37. Freshman Errol Andrews led the Rebels with a 43. Match results were: LeBreque defeated Telstar's Brady Chapman 4+3; Arnold (MV) defeated Brian Zinchuk (T) 4+3; Caponi (MV) defeated Jordi Walker (T) 3+2; Knox (MV) defeated Travis Brooks (T) 5+4; Dawson (MV) defeated Simon Dumont (T) 3+1; Errol Andrews (t) defeated Arsenault (MV) 3+2; Dan Morgan (T) defeated Stickney (MV) 2+1; and Ben Shimamura (T) defeated Bolkernick (MV) 3+2. Mountain Valley is 2-0 on the season and Telstar is 0-1.

News and photos from clubs and organizations

The Citizen welcomes submissions of news items and photographs from local clubs and organizations. The deadline for clubs and organizational items is noon Monday, but earlier submission is appreciated. All news articles should be typed or printed legibly, and include the name and daytime telephone number of a contact person.

Submissions can be dropped off at The Citizen office (behind the Bethel Town Office) or mailed to P.O. Box 109, Bethel, ME, 04217. During non-business hours, items can be placed in the mailbox outside our office.

Photos: When submitting photographs, please identify the nature and date of the activity, the names of everyone shown in the photograph, and the name of the photographer. Please also provide the name and telephone number of a contact person.

Returns: Due to the volume of material passing through our office, we cannot be responsible for submitted materials. Please do not submit irreplaceable photographs without first speaking with Michael Daniels or Alison Aloisio. If you wish other photographs to be returned, please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope; or come into our office within two weeks of submitting the photograph to pick it up. For further information, call 824-2444. News and photos can also be submitted by e-mail: news@bethelcitizen.com.

AT U.S. NAVAL ACADEMY

Civilian William P. Murphy, son of Nancy B. and David W. Murphy, of 844 Mayville Road, Bethel, recently participated in the U.S. Naval Academy's weeklong summer seminar program in Annapolis, Md.

During the program, Murphy was introduced to academy life through a regimen of academics, physical training, intramural sports, sailing and seamanship, as well as leadership training and social activities.

The summer seminar program was designed by the U.S. Naval Academy's office of admissions to give students a taste of the challenges and benefits of a Naval Academy education.

Murphy is currently attending Gould Academy.

Obituaries

PAUL L. MILLER

Paul L. Miller, 58, of Denmark, died Saturday, Aug. 24, 2002 at Central Maine Medical Center, Lewiston, following a long illness with cancer.

He was born in Lewiston on Oct. 30, 1943, the youngest son of J. Coleman and A. Leora (Saul) Miller. He received his diploma from Edward Little High School and graduated with honors from Southern Maine Technical College with an associate degree in culinary arts.

He served his apprenticeship at the Colony Hotel, Palm Beach, Fla. He was an executive chef and worked in fine dining restaurants throughout Maine and New Hampshire.

He served as sous chef at Fanny's Dining and Entertainment and the Ramada Inn and Conference Center in Lewiston where he was named 1991 Employee of the Year, chosen from a staff of 102 people. He served as banquet chef at the Martindale Country Club, Auburn, and most recently as executive chef at Severance Lodge Club in Center Lovell and later at the Pleasant Point Inn in Center Lovell.

He loved his home in Denmark, where he resided since 1993. He enjoyed the outdoors and was especially skilled at the fine art of sport fishing. He was extremely adept at fly tying and a successful bow hunter.

Survivors include a sister, E. Carol Cotton of Hampden; two brothers, David C. of Casco and Robert L. of Raymond; three nephews and four nieces.

Graveside services were conducted by the Rev. Arthur Cotton on Friday, Aug. 30, at North Raymond Cemetery. A celebration of his life was held immediately afterward at the home of Robert and Beverly Miller, North Raymond. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations in Paul Miller's name may be made to: the American Cancer Society, One Main Street, Suite 300, Topsham, ME 04086-1240.

GUNNAR A. KOMULAINEN

Gunnar August Komulainen, 84, of Ryerson Hill Road, South Paris, died Tuesday, Aug. 27, 2002 at Maine Medical Center, Portland, with loving family at his bedside.

He was born Oct. 6, 1917, on Tueltown Road, West Paris, a son of August and Anna (Pikkarinen) Komulainen. He attended schools in North Paris.

He married Flora McKeen in 1946. He will be greatly missed by his loving wife of 56 years, as well as his children and other family members. He had a tremendous love for all of them and was very proud of them. He was a wonderful influence, due to his positive attitude and zest for life in general.

He loved attending family gatherings, working on his farm, hunting, fishing and reading. He enjoyed trips to his son's camp in Jackman. He belonged to the Finnish American Society and always looked forward to chatting with acquaintances and friends at the meetings.

He worked as a farmer for several years, and also worked in the woods. He was the first hourly employee hired by the AC Lawrence Co. in South Paris, starting June 13, 1955. He retired from the company in May 1983.

He was extremely active in retirement. He still cut and split his own firewood, raised a beautiful vegetable garden, kept the hay fields mowed and was always kept busy working around the house and farm.

Survivors include his faithful and loving wife, Flora; two sons, Wesley and wife Jerrilyn of Clarksville, Tenn.; Danny and wife Pamela of South Paris; two daughters, Pamela Woodworth and husband Calvin of South Paris, and Susan McElravy and husband Scott of South Paris; one brother, Alva of South Paris; eight grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren; and many cousins, nieces and nephews.

A graveside service was held Saturday, Aug. 31, at the Finnish Cemetery, Pioneer Street, West

Paris. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Finnish American Society, PO Box 294, West Paris, ME 04289 or to the Paris Hill Bible Church, 398 Paris Hill Road, South Paris, ME 04281.

ELEANOR H. BEEBE

Eleanor H. Beebe, 88, of South Paris died peacefully Friday, Aug. 30, 2002 at Market Square Health Care Center in South Paris.

She was born in South Paris on Sept. 4, 1913, the daughter of Edwin and Florence Jewett Haskell. She graduated from South Paris High School in 1930, and from Bryant and Stratton Secretarial School in Boston in 1932. She married Marvin N. Beebe on Dec. 31, 1939. She worked for a federal judge in Boston in the 1940s, and moved back to Maine with her family in the 1950s. She helped with the family business, Bolster's Store in South Paris, during the 1960s and 1970s.

After retirement, she and her husband lived in Florida before returning to Maine three years ago. She was a longtime member of the First Congregational Church of South Paris. She enjoyed playing the organ, reading, traveling, playing bridge and especially spending time with her grandchildren. She will be remembered for her good sense of humor and devotion to her family and friends.

She is survived by her husband of South Paris; a daughter and her husband, Alison and Joseph Aloisio Jr. of Albany; grandchildren Gail, Jay and Andy, all of Albany; a brother, Nelson Haskell of Cedar Mountain, N.C.; nieces Jane Haskell Smith of Meredith, N.H., Sally Seyler of Springfield, Mass., and Nancy Beebe of San Diego, Calif.; nephews, Alan Haskell of Chicago, Ill., James Cosman of Hingham, Mass., and Fred Cosman of Wheatley Heights, N.Y., and their families; and sisters-in-law Effie Douglas of Springfield, Mass., and Ann Beebe of Templeton, Calif.

A memorial service will be held on Saturday, Sept. 14, at 2:30 p.m. at the First Congregational Church in South Paris with the Rev. Don Mayberry officiating. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Market Square Health Care Center, 12 Market Square, South Paris, ME 04281.

ROBERT E. DEMPSEY

Robert E. "Bob" Dempsey, 58, died Friday, Aug. 30, 2002 at the Maine Medical Center, Portland. He was a resident of Howard Pond Road in Hanover.

Born in Orono on March 30, 1944, he was the son of Percy T. and Helen (Simmons) Dempsey. He was a graduate of Orono High School with the Class of 1962 and the University of Maine at Orono with the class of 1966. In 1966 he started teaching at Mexico High School and was also athletic director and assistant principal. He was head of the math department. He also coached golf, basketball and football. His football team won the state championship in 1969. From 1974 to 1984 he taught at Rumford High School and in 1977 he became the assistant principal. He was a math teacher and the assistant football coach. He focused on getting the most out of the people who had leadership qualities that they did not realize they had. In 1984 Bob left his great love of teaching to pursue a career in insurance. He worked for Western Maine Insurance Services in Rumford with his partner and friend, Wayne MacDougall. Bob was also chairman of the merger committee of the Rumford and Mexico schools to form SAD 43.

He was a loving and caring husband for 39 years. He was a nurturing father and doting grandfather. He took full advantage of life, exemplified by his many interests. He was a mentor, educator, entrepreneur, outdoorsman, master gardener, state champion coach, school board member, avid traveler, and friend to all. Bob's favorite time was spent camping with his family. Many camping trips were planned to explore his love for antiques and fine wines. He was an avid reader, hunter, and sports enthusiast. When he was not pursuing his many interests, you would find him laboring with love on his exceptionally manicured yard and home.

Bob had a positive influence on many people with whom he came in contact through teaching, coaching, business and everyday life.

Bob Dempsey was truly respected by all who came in contact with him.

He was married to Laurie Chaloux, who survives of Hanover. Other survivors include two daughters, Robin Smith and her husband, Wayne of Hanover and Michelle Hepburn and her husband Chris of Falmouth; his grandchildren, Megan and Katie Smith of Hanover and Charlie and Jack Hepburn of Falmouth; his mother, Helen Dempsey of Brewer; three sisters, Marlene Thomas and Dee Osgood of Brewer and Rae McKechnie of Bangor.

A funeral to celebrate Bob's life was held on Tuesday, Sept. 3, at his home at 78 Howard Pond Road in Hanover. Those who desire may contribute to the American Lung Association of Maine, 122 State Street, Augusta, ME 04330, in Bob's memory.

Weddings

Mr. & Mrs. Greg Lewis

The wedding of Kelsey Lynn Cross and Greg Matthew Lewis was held at 4 p.m. on July 13 at The Round Church in Richmond, Vt. The Rev. Richard Crocker officiated the ceremony.

Kelsey is the daughter of Mrs. Nancy Spearin of Solon, and Richard Cross of Bethel. Greg is the son of Richard and Kathy Lewis of Closter, N.J.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. Betsy Barton, friend of the bride, was matron of honor and Heather Harrison, friend of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Scott Lewis, brother of the groom, was best man. The groomsmen were Max Carratura, brother-in-law of the groom, and Dylan Stableford, friend of the groom. The couple's dogs, Colby and Sage, were ring bearers.

A reception followed aboard the Spirit of Ethan Allen III on Lake Champlain, after which the couple flew to the Caribbean for their honeymoon. They are residing in Williston, Vt.

Kelsey received her B.A. from St. Michael's College and is currently employed as an art educator at the Shelburne Museum.

Greg received his B.A. from the University of Vermont and is currently teaching social studies at South Burlington High School.

Mr. & Mrs. Lawrence Ward

On Aug. 25, 2002, Kimberly S. Poulin and Lawrence Ward, Sr. of Rumford Center were married at the Locke Mills Union Church in Greenwood by the Rev. Debbie Jenks. Participating in the ceremony were a matron of honor, Delann Roehn (the bride's sister) and the bride's daughter, Kaylee Poulin, as flower girl. For the groom, his son Larry, Jr. stood as best man and the bride's nephews, Austin and Dustin Smith, were ushers. Andrew Lamontagne, also the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

The bride's parents are Gerald and Jane Poulin of Greenwood and Mary Ledford of Oxford, Md. The groom's parents are Shirley and Robert Whittemore of Norway.

Flower arrangements and bouquets were handmade by the bride's stepmother, Mrs. Poulin, centering on the bride's colors of soft rose, blue and cream. The bride's gown was a graceful cream satin with blue floral touches and a soft cream half veil held at her crown by the same silk floral hair arrangement worn by her stepmother at her marriage to the bride's father. The couple shared vows and rings, closing the ceremony with the lighting of a specially made unity candle. A reception followed in the church's hall.

The couple will reside in Rumford Center following their honeymoon travels.
